What worship looks like during the COVID-19 situation:

Join us Sunday at 10am for our time of worship together online.

How to Join Us:

If you are on Facebook: Go to the St. Paul's Cathedral, Kamloops BC page. The live stream of the service will begin at 10am and should appear for you at that time. If it doesn't, refresh your web browser and try again!

If you are not on Facebook: You should still be able to access the live streaming of the service without making an account. Go to this link: Facebook Link and the live stream should begin at 10am. You may need to say "no" to the invitations to create an account.

Can't join us at 10am on Sunday? No worries! The service will stay on the Facebook page for St. Paul's and within a few hours will also be uploaded onto the Cathedral website for your viewing.

We look forward to gathering with you on Sunday morning
through the ways that technology offers to us

Watch the Facebook page for wise words from Ken on a weekly basis!

Virtual Coffee with Ken, Kathie and Melissa

Join us on ZOOM for a "virtual coffee hour" at 10am on Tuesday, April 21 and Thursday, April 23.

This will be a time for conversation and checking in with those who drop by. It will be a new format for us all - so we'll see what works and what we can do differently as we seek to be together and support one another in new ways.

ZOOM is a platform that allows for video and audio presence, if your technology has those pieces, as well as the ability to phone in for conversation.

Children & Youth Ministry

Dear families,

I am sure you have experienced the mix of weather systems during this first week of Easter! The sunshine is beautiful and I'm finding that the song of the wind has a welcomed place in the week too. I wonder if you've see any blooming flowers around your home or on your walks with your family? I hope so! It is one of my favourite signs of spring and symbols of the resurrection. Next time you are outside take note of what has changed in your midst, maybe a flower is blooming or maybe the leaves on a tree are starting to grow. Where are you seeing growth?

Melissa available to connect with families, children and youth via email, phone, MessengerKids, and video chat. She can also be reached at stpaulscathedralyouth@gmail.com or call/text 250-682-4866.

The Doves ring the Bells

Mary and Gordon Dove have volunteered to ring the church bells every night at 7pm to thank and honour health care workers getting off their shifts at RIH. This is a lovely way to show how much we appreciate the front line workers!!

Building is CLOSED

Please know that St. Paul's Cathedral is closed until further notice for all uses. If anyone requires access to the building please leave a message for warden Jon Buckle at 250 571 0675. Please stay home, for yourself, and for everyone.

The Circular

As an activity for the time that we are confined to our homes I invite all you would be Ernest Hemingways and Margaret Atwoods to write a piece for the Circular about Family. It can be the history of your family, or an amusing story, or your adventures climbing the family tree, or what "family" means to you. You can tell us about your relatives near and far, your in-laws and your out-laws, etc. Tales of your fur babies are also welcome. It doesn't need to be the great Canadian novel, anything from a page or two to a paragraph or two is good. The deadline for submissions is June 15, but I could be flexible by a day or two.

Happy writing.

PWRDF – Response to COVID-19

Dr. Jean Baptiste Mbonyingingo, Village Health Works' Medical Director, shows off a face mask made by members of the sewing co-op, in anticipation of a potential shortage should COVID-19 incidence increase as it has in Italy, Spain and the United States. At present, VHW health care workers have a sufficient supply of gloves and N95 face masks.

VST Summer School – News!

Vancouver School of Theology is pleased to announce its plans for July summer school programming. Almost all courses will continue as planned, with several re-scheduled into the 2021 Summer School program. In light of global solidarity efforts to eliminate the threat of Covid-19, all courses will be taught in virtual classrooms using Zoom, which allows for easy face-to-face interactions with teachers and classmates.

Vancouver School of Theology has been using Zoom with great success with it's growing number of distance students, and is pleased to extend this opportunity to its summer school participants. VST has been doing online education for 4 years now so our online delivery of courses is a quality learning experience.
